BAR ASSOCIATION IN MEMORIAL FOR DECEASED MEMBERS

Judge Crabtree and W. F. Preston Honored by Co. Lawyers

Memorial services for the late Judge John B. Crabtree and the late Deputy County Clerk W. F. Preston were held by the Lee Co. Bar Association in the Circuit Court rooms this afternoon, nearly all of the lawyers of the county and many friends of the deceased gentlemen attending. Judge Harry Edwards presided during the exercises and addresses of tribute were made by Attorneys John E. Erwin, H. A. Brooks, Clyde Smith and E. H. Brewster, after which the following resolutions, drafted by a committee composed of John E. Erwin, Clyde Smith and Henry C. Warner and presented by the latter were adopted:

For Judge Crabtree. Although it is not possible, by formal Resolution, to express either our personal feeling, or sorrow for the death of Judge John B. Crabtree, or our sense of the loss which this community has sustained, we wish to record permanently our appreciation of his character and ability, and of his service to his fellowmen.

Throughout his whole honorable career, in his practice as a lawyer, his service as a Judge, and in various responsible positions which he filled, Judge Crabtree was distinguished for uprightness and honor, in all of his dealings. In all of the positions which he held, as a citizen, as a lawyer, and as a Judge, he performed all of his duties with credit to himself, and to the satisfaction of all concerned. His cordial human sympathy brought him into personal relationship with a large number of people, and he was always so courteous in manner, and so kindly in feeling, that everyone who knew him, became his friend.

Sorrow for his death has been widely felt, and with unusual sincerity, and we desire that this resolution be placed upon the records of the Lee County Bar Association, and of the Circuit Court of Lee County, and that a copy thereof be transmitted to the family of our late beloved friend and fellow member of this Association.

For W. F. Preston. With the death of our good friend, W. F. Preston, there passed from our midst a manly citizen, a good lawyer, and a loyal American. He was careful and discreet; always a courteous gentleman, who devoted all of his best efforts and energies to the greatest service of this country, and to his fellowmen, and it is fitting that we pause for a moment for an expression of appreciation for his life, his character, and his service.

A kind husband, a good father, and an exemplary citizen has gone to his reward. His association with us was mutually pleasant and profitable, and his memory will always be honored and revered.

It is the sentiment of this association that a record of the adoption of this resolution commemorating his memory should be made in the Circuit Court of Lee County, Illinois, and with the Lee County Bar Association, and that the family of the deceased be furnished with a copy of the Resolution.

Wheeler's Case May Go to Jury This P. M.

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Great Falls, Mont., April 24.—The trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler in federal court here went into the argument stage today, with prospects that the fate of the Montana legislator, who is accused of wrongfully appearing before the Department of the Interior in the interest of his client, would be in the hands of the jury before night.

Taking of testimony in the case came to an abrupt end late yesterday when the defense gave up the plan of calling additional witnesses to controvert the testimony of the government's star witness, George P. Hayes.

An agreement was reached between government and defense attorneys after a conference with Federal Judge Dietrich. In consideration of the defense decision not to call extra witnesses, the government agreed to offer no rebuttal testimony.

Los Angeles Back Home from Flight to Bermuda

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Lakewood, N. J., April 24.—Exactly 20 hours and 43 minutes after she had sailed from Bermuda where she went on Wednesday, the big United States dirigible Los Angeles bumped to earth at her home field here at 5:40 o'clock this morning. Twenty-five minutes later she had been safely wheeled into her hangar. Aboard the giant craft were three sacks of American mail from Bermuda brought here almost 36 hours sooner than a boat could have brought them.

Miller, instructor in manual training in the city schools, has arranged to give the public an idea of what the pupils of the sixth grades of Dixon are doing along this particular line of study. He has gathered together articles of handiwork of various students and placed them in one of the big display windows at the Ferguson hardware store, where they will be on exhibition over Saturday.

The exhibit consists of such articles as book racks, the racks, book holders, table lamps, small articles of furniture and odd pieces that the students have turned out this winter. The articles represent many hours of patient work and their owners are very proud of their first real accomplishments, which are being exhibited to the public. The exhibit is worthy of a careful inspection.

FOURTEEN MEN ENTRAPPED IN BURNING MINE

Hope for Rescue of Idaho Miners is Abandoned

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Wallace, Idaho, April 24.—Hope of rescuing above fourteen men entrapped below the 1600 foot level of the Flecha mine near here, virtually has been abandoned at 7 o'clock this morning. Rescue crews were unable to give any estimate at that hour as to when the entombed miners probably would be reached. They were trapped last night.

Three men were brought out alive from the 1,600 foot level after fire, breaking out in a pump station at the 2,000 foot level, had imprisoned the 17 members of the night crew on the lower levels. The remainder of the night crew numbering in all about 100 men, according to estimates, made their escape.

Three rescue crews of 12 men each are working in shifts in an effort to reach the men still in the mine. They are in charge of E. T. Starks, at the head of the Coeur d'Alene district mine rescue station. Half are employed underground and the remainder on the surface. A revolving nozzle was taken into the mine this morning for use against the flames.

The rescue workers said they had been unable to make any headway against the fire which was reported burning fiercely. They had not been able to determine how extensive the blaze had become except that it seemed to be general below the 1,600 foot level.

Reports from the mine express the fear that the timbering of the mine below the 1600 foot level was afloat and that the entire structure was in danger of collapsing.

PICK DIXON TEAM FOR MOUNT MORRIS MEET ON SATURDAY

Coaches Select Entrants for Events at Invitation Track Meet

Quickly overcoming the lead taken by the Juniors in the D. H. S. Inter-class meet the Sophomores, Friday evening, battled on even terms with their rivals the Juniors until the last events when the Juniors again obtained the advantage, coming out on top by but just three points. Toward the close of the meet it was decided, because of the one-sidedness of the affair, the Seniors and Freshmen having but few entered, to combine the Freshmen and Juniors and the Sophomores and the Seniors. As the Seniors had managed to make three points and the Freshmen had failed to break into the scoring, this combination of classes caused the score to be tied, the winner to be decided by the relay which will be run Friday evening.

Coaches Bowers and Welles have at last completed the selection of entrants for the invitation meet at Mt. Morris College, Saturday. In the weights Captain Johnson, Groth and Abbott will probably compete while Prescott and McNeil will throw the javelin. For the distance and middle events Dixon will be represented by Winchener, Poffenberger and Rogers. In the dashes Beede, O'Malley and Keller; Keller and McNeely are expected to start in the hurdles, Abbott will probably be the only entrant in the pole vault, although there are several other promising candidates, who will be in shape later in the season. Hofmann, Flanagan, Abbott and McNeely will probably figure in the jumps.

The final standing of the classes in the interclass meet is: Juniors 63 Sophomores 60 Seniors 3 Freshmen 2

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Sycamore, Ill., April 24.—Forty-two hours of deliberation by the jury in the trial of E. A. Shetter, DeKalb, Ill., jeweler, charged with manslaughter as a result of the killing of William Jay of Moline, Illinois, by Shetter's automobile last September, found the jurors still deadlocked at 2 p. m. today.

Rumors were that the jurors still stood at 9-2. Rumors last night were that the majority were for acquittal.

GYM EXHIBITIONS AND BAND CONCERT BY BOYS THURSDAY

Unique Entertainment to be Given at Family Theater by Y

(By Murphy.) The first annual gymnastic exhibition given under the auspices of the Physical Department committee of the Dixon Y. M. C. A. in conjunction with the Y. M. C. A. Boys Band, will be held at the Family Theater Thursday evening, April 30th, at 8 o'clock. The program of the evening will be in three parts, a concert by the band, a picture and a gymnastic exhibition by the Junior gym classes.

At the present time the Juniors in both gym classes are busily engaged in putting the finishing touches to their parts in the evening's program. Someone said "Gymnastics" (the kids will have one alright, but this event is to be an exhibition or demonstration of the work being done in the physical department of the Y, condensed of course, but sufficient to give a very good idea of what the boys do in their gym classes.

This exhibition will consist of five divisions, each division showing some activity that the boys participate in on the gym floor. The first act will be by the Junior "B" class and will consist of calisthenics with a few steps in gymnastic dancing, followed by a few group relay races. The Junior "A" class will then give a wand drill, demonstrating a few of the exercises "Andy Gump" is using in his effort to reduce, using much better form, however, than "Andy" is capable of. The Junior "A's" will also perform on the parallel bars, executing a few elementary and intermediate exercises and combinations, nothing startling nor spectacular but interesting nevertheless. The final act will be staged by a group of both Junior classes and intermediates, the newly organized pyramid class which is doing a little work outside the regular class periods. This group has done wonderfully well in every line they have been together. In such a short time only the high spots is a year of physical activity can be hit but those will be interesting, instructive and entertaining to any or all who at all interested in boys and their activities.

OVER 300 MASONS ATTEND BANQUET THURSDAY NIGHT

The annual Past Master's Communication of Friendship lodge No. 7, A. F. & A. M. held last evening was one of the largest assemblies of its kind held in many years. The banquet hall at the Masonic building was too small to care for the number and the banquet was served at the Elks club at 639. Clinton C. Rorick, Worshipful Master of the lodge, presided as toastmaster and introduced Judge William J. Emerson of Oregon, who was present with a delegation of Masons from that city.

Judge Emerson gave a short but interesting talk, relating some of the historic facts concerning the Dixon and Oregon lodges which are among the oldest in the state of Illinois. About 300 Masons were seated at the banquet which was served by a committee from the Eastern Star and following the smoker, all returned to the Masonic hall where the master degree was conferred.

Many out-of-town guests were present, among them being Dr. W. J. Brown and Prof. H. H. Hagen of Chicago, William Anderson of Austin, and delegations from Sterling, Oregon, Ashton, Franklin Grove, Polo and surrounding vicinity.

Banker of Franklin Grove to determine the cause of her passing, which was attributed to apoplexy by the jurors.

Funeral services will be held at the Lord home in the Kingdom at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon and at the Lighthouse church at 2 o'clock, with burial in the cemetery near the church.

MOB AT GENESEO TRIED TO LYNCH ALLEGED MORON

Captured After Attempt to Kidnap a Four-Year-Old Girl

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Geneseo, Ill., April 24.—Intense excitement prevailed here last night upon the capture of a man accused of mistreating the 4 year old daughter of a Geneseo family. Late in the afternoon the man seized the child and carried her into an orchard at the edge of town.

The man who says he is Donald Carlos, of Springfield, Ill., was chased by women who saw him abduct the child and start running down the street, stifling his screams as he ran. When he reached an orchard on a farm at the edge of town his pursuers were so close that he abandoned the child and ran around the farm house and out across the meadow. Men on the farm took up the chase and soon captured the fugitive.

The Geneseo police and deputy sheriffs arrived shortly after and took him in charge, but experienced difficulty in maintaining order as the men attempted to deal out swift justice, one grabbing Carlos and nearly choking him to death before separated.

Held Under Guard

The kidnapper was brought into town and after preliminary hearing before Justice Cole, was bound over to the Henry County grand jury under $10,000 bonds. Carlos states he has influential friends in Springfield who will provide bond for his release. He was held in the city jail under guard to prevent mob violence until removal to county jail at Cambridge late last night.

Feeling already at fever pitch here, because of the assault on an 18 year old member of the graduating class of the Geneseo township high school, which took place last Saturday night, while she was attending a dance here, the young woman was taken from her young man friend, while on the street, near the dance hall, by a man claiming to be "the sheriff," and was later found in a half dazed condition. Warrants were issued for the arrest of her assailant, the crime being charged to Roy Johnson, a married man and father of three children. Efforts to locate Johnson since the night of the attack have proved futile.

THURSDAY WAS HOTTEST APRIL DAY ON RECORD

While Montana Shivered Under Blanket of Snow Yesterday

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Chicago, April 24.—Forecasts of thunderstorms and lower temperatures today brought back spring overcoats to the middle west which yesterday in coatless attire sweated in record breaking heat.

Relief also was promised central Montana, which shivered under a blanket of snow reaching a depth of 17 inches in Butte at the same time the prairie and Great Lakes states were mopping brows and consulting records of previous April heat.

A forerunner of the cooling rains came last night in Missouri and Kansas accompanied by wind of tornado proportions in South Dakota, where wire communication was interrupted, farm buildings demolished and cattle killed. Jefferson City, Mo., had previously reported a temperature of 34 degrees, the highest reached in the hot weather area.

All Records Broken.

The soaring mercury in several sections ran close to the Missouri capital's record. Indiana and Ohio included in the forecast for today's relief, had weather that broke records for years with temperatures in the 80's. All Chicago's records for the day for over half a century were broken when peak of 86 degrees was reached at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The former highest of 84.6 was reached April 23, 1915.

Throughout the gulf and cotton states, temperatures ranging from 82 in Mobile to 88 in Vicksburg, Mass., and Birmingham were reported. Some sections of the east experienced mid-summer touches, New York recording 83 degrees as the warmest during yesterday.

Robbers Break Into a Party: Loot is $10,000

By Associated Press Leased Wire. Chicago, April 24.—Jewelry and money valued at $10,000 was taken by four masked and armed robbers who held up 14 men and women guests at a party in the apartment of Mrs. Bertha Kontny, early today.

The robbers entered through a rear door which had been left open, flourishing pistols they lined up their victims against the walls and leisurely searched them, escaping before an alarm could be given.

BULGARIA IS CENTER, ALL NATIONS ARM

States Take Military Steps to Offset Increase of Army

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Dispatches from Sofia continue to minimize the seriousness of the Bulgarian situation, but indirect reports from other Balkan centers picture conditions as grave.

Balkan states are said to be taking military precautions against the spread of the terrorism in Bulgaria, which flared to its high mark with the recent attack on King Boris, assassination of General Gheorghieff and bombing of the cathedral where 250 persons were killed.

Troops are Mobilized

Rumania is reported to be moving troops toward both her Russian and Bulgarian frontiers. Jugo-Slavia is guarding her borders; indirect reports say Greece is mobilizing a part of her army, but will not intervene unless Greek frontiers are threatened.

Greece, according to these reports, will regard an increased Bulgarian army as a menace to the Balkan status quo. Greek agents are reported en route to Belgrade to renew negotiations for a Greek-Jugo-Slav alliance.

Rumanian intervention will follow any attempt to establish a communist republic in Bulgaria, it is declared in dispatches from Bucharest, where sensational accounts of the Bulgarian situation have been received.

Belgrade dispatches to London say a serious diplomatic conflict between Rumania and Bulgaria appears possible unless Bulgaria abandons her suspicion of Jugo-Slav complicity in the campaign of terrorism in Bulgaria. Jugo-Slav officials deny that assistance has been given Bulgaria assassins.

Charges Against Moscow

Sofia dispatches quote Minister of the Interior Rousseff as declaring not more than 1500 persons have been arrested throughout Bulgaria during the campaign against terrorists. He asserts that Moscow furnished arms and money for the subversives.

Premier Tzankoff declared the statement attributed to the British labor party members recently in Sofia, that many had been killed in Bulgaria without trial, is "sheer calumny." He declared the situation is calm throughout the country.

Other indirect dispatches however, continue to report that King Boris is virtually a prisoner in the royal palace at Sofia under General Lazareff, head of the military junta.

Sofia continues apparently under virtual martial law. The Bulgarian militia is being increased as authorized by the council of Ambassadors at Paris, to cope with the situation, and Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Greece are protesting that increase.

ONE SLAYER LOST, TWO WON APPEALS TO HIGHEST COURT

Scott's Plea is Denied; Two Given New Trials by Supreme Court

Springfield, Ill., April 24.—(By the Associated Press)—The Supreme Court this morning denied the petition of Russell Scott, former Canadian promoter for a writ of superseas. This means that he may hang after the 30 day reprieve granted him by Governor Small, expires.

There was no substantial error in the verdict of the trial court in the Scott case, the Supreme Court held.

Floyd Williams, sentenced to hang for the murder of Henry Bodenbeck by St. Clair County Court was granted a new trial. The decision of the lower court was reversed and a new trial ordered.

Joliet Man Gets New Trial

Audrey Brantley alleged Joliet murderer, will receive a new trial as a result of favorable action on his appeal by the Supreme Court today. The court reversed the action of the lower court which sentenced him to death and remanded the case for a new trial.

The protection of plain-clothes policemen in performing their duties under the law was one of the outstanding points in Brantley's efforts to evade the death penalty.

Briefs presented to the supreme court showed that Brantley shot Walter Weiss, a Joliet policeman, April 5, 1924 at that Weiss died two days later as the result of the wound. Testimony presented at the trial showed that Brantley shot Weiss and that Weiss and two other men who were with him were officers of the law and that all three policemen pursued Brantley and a companion down a passageway between houses in Joliet's foreign quarter, where the shooting occurred. The explanation was offered that Brantley and his companion, a nephew, did not know who their pursuers were or the purpose of their pursuit.

Passion Caused Verdict

One of the principal grounds of error recited by the plaintiff in error was that the murder verdict was the result of passion and prejudice which had resulted from the officer's death.

Other grounds of error charged in the appeal to the supreme court were that the trial court admitted certain evidence and excluded certain other evidence contrary to the rights of the defendant; that attorneys for the defense were not given sufficient time to prepare the case for trial in the lower court and that the verdict was contrary to the evidence.

A reversal of the decision on these grounds and a new trial of the case was asked.

She is not fair to outward view,
As many maidens be,
Her loveliness I never knew
Until she smiled on me,
Then I saw her eye was bright,
A well of love, a spring of light.

But now her looks are coy and cold,
To mine they ne'er reply,
And yet I cease not to behold
The loveliness in her eye;
Her very frowns are fairer far
Than smiles of other maidens are.

Kingdom-Mt. Union Aid in Meeting

An enjoyable meeting of the Kingdom-Mt. Union Aid society was held Wednesday at the Community House. Eighteen members were present to enjoy the picnic lunch at noon.

The business meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Hamilton, who has recovered from her recent illness, and two hymns, were sung, followed by Scripture reading from Matthew, the seventh chapter.

The program in charge of Mrs. Edward Stanley, as chairman, was given as follows:
Reading, The Church and the World—Mrs. Lee Brink.
Reading, A Dutchman's Boy—Mrs. George Patterson.
Hymn.
Reading, The Dutchman and the Dog—Mrs. Klapprodt.

At the close of the program Mrs. Heagy was appointed pianist for the balance of the year. The program committee was appointed, with Mrs. Heagy, chairman, and Mrs. Brink and Mrs. Teeter, as members.

The president requests all those who have not paid their dues for the present year, to kindly arrange to pay them at the next meeting which will be with Mrs. Jule Hill Wednesday, May 6th.

All those having rags for rug weaving are asked to bring them to the next meeting and they will be sent to the Dixon State Hospital inmates, to be made into rugs.

A new member, Mrs. Frank Thompson, was added to the society.

Roll call will be answered by one of the ten commandments, and each member is to learn all of them.

Mrs. Hamilton closed the meeting by reading "Be a Booster."

"If you think our Aid's the best
Tell 'em so;
If you'd have it lead the rest
Help it grow.

When there's anything to do,
Let them always count on you,
You'll find good, when it is thru,
Don't you know?

If you're used to giving knocks
Change your style
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
For a while

Never flatter, never bluff,
Tell the truth, for that's enough,
Be a booster, that's the stuff
Don't just "belong."

The meeting closed with all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. Brooks received many useful and beautiful gifts and she expressed her appreciation and thanks to her guests in a delightful manner.

At 4:30 a very tempting and appetizing two-course luncheon was served.

What Governor Nellie Ross Told Them

Chicago, April 23.—It is a mistake for women to limit their interests to welfare work and reforms supposed to directly benefit children and women, Governor Nellie T. Ross of Wyoming told a "Famous Women's Breakfast" at the Woman's World's Fair.

"Presiding over a home remains the noblest and most satisfying career for women," Mrs. Ross said, "but the woman who is successful in the home who has varied interests. With varied interests she gives more pride to her husband and more joy to her children."

"Moreover, if woman is to be a real factor in public affairs she should try to broaden her interests to embrace all humanity. There are many issues outside the limits of what is called welfare, which react upon women and children indirectly. New privileges have brought responsibilities which are appalling. Let it not be said that woman attained her present privileges after years of struggle only to cast them away."

"I think it may not be too much to expect that it will yet be women who will prove the impelling power in the adoption of some plan that will guide the nations of the earth into paths of permanent peace."

A Masculine Negligee

This type of negligee is very popular with the practical girl, although the idea is very obviously stolen from a man's dressing gown. Of printed silk in shades of blue, it is bound and belted with plain blue of a darker tone. The sash makes any other closing unnecessary.

Tea Was Enjoyable Affair of Yesterday

One of the most delightful affairs of the spring social season, quite informal, but most enjoyable was the "afternoon" given yesterday by Mrs. G. A. Campbell, for her mother, Madeline Mary Howard, and for her sister, Mrs. Tonio Von Riedemann, the latter of Lucerne, Switzerland.

Snap dragons and carnations in delicate rose and pink shades, and a variety of spring blossoms graced the rooms at the Campbell home, where guests enjoyed the afternoon. Mrs. Campbell, Madeline Howard and Mrs. Von Riedemann received.

Mrs. A. A. Rowland, and Miss Francine Ingraham, Misses Alice Powell, Catherine Dixon and Frances Campbell, assisted in the dining room. Mrs. George Fries, (nee Charlotte Campbell) also assisted her mother in entertaining.

TO LESSEN NEEDLESS SUFFERING OF ANIMALS.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, April 24.—A number of St. Louis women are to join in the national campaign of the American Humane Society against the steel traps used in catching fur-bearing animals, due to the efforts of Mrs. Minnie Madden Fluke, American actress, who is here today as honorary chairman of the new Humane Trapping committee of the American Humane Society.

The proposed campaign, it is stated, is not an attack on the fur industry or an indictment on the wearing of furs. It is announced that the co-operation of the fur industry is sought.

The immediate objects of the campaign, to which Mrs. Fluke is devoting her time aside from stage work, are the presentation of the facts to women who wear furs and the enactment of state legislatures throughout the country against the use of non-killing traps.

BELIEVING WHAT YOU HEAR.

This controversy between religion and science, about the theory of evolution, simmers down to the problem of how much one is willing to accept "on faith."

The scientists claim that religion is based on faith rather than proved fact.

But does it ever occur to these scientists that at least 95 per cent of their scientific knowledge is also based on faith?

For instance, every scientist will take oath that the skull of a creature known as the Java Ape Man, supposed to be half a million or so years old, exists—having been reconstructed from fragments. But how many scientists have actually seen this skull? Belief in this skull is entirely a matter of faith—credulously accepting the word of others.

We're all like the scientists, in that 95 per cent of what we "know" is accepted on faith alone. How do you know that there's a country called China? Were you ever there to see with your own eyes? Most of us have never seen China but we believe in it.

Faith in the word of others makes us believe nearly everything we class as knowledge. Studying chemistry, we are told that water is a combination of hydrogen and oxygen—and we accept this as true, on faith.

Scientists "swore by" the authenticity of the Cariff Giant—believed in it, many of them, because they had faith in it—until the giant was exposed as a "planted" hoax of P. T. Barnum.

The world is so big that am an traveling constantly for 100 years would see only a small fraction of the whole before he died. With this handicap, it's quite natural that nearly all of our knowledge is accepted on the basis of faith.

Faith is one of the mightiest forces in life.

It is just as much present in science as in religion.

All theories are eventually proved false—from Columbus knocking out the scientific theory that the earth was flat, to Einstein proving that parallel lines do meet if indefinitely prolonged. The history of science is a history of exploded convictions—shattered faiths.

FINES FOR FIRE-STARTERS.

The true forest ranger is becoming as relentless in hunting down the starter of forest fires as he is in locating and extinguishing the fires themselves. With very slim clues to work on, he persists, and the guilty persons caught are usually converted to the observance of forestry laws before the story ends.

A fire carelessly started in the Chelan National forest was found and put out promptly. Then the rangers began to hunt for the fire-starters. At the scene of the fire a piece of wrapping paper of a sort used only by a big store in Spokane, Wash., was the solitary available clue.

They found that the last persons to camp there had been a party of men with a canoe. They traced them a considerable distance and then found a camp site where an old newspaper had been left. This newspaper, too, bore a Spokane label, and also the name and address of a man. The rangers hunted him up, found he had been one of the party of campers and got him to admit their guilt. Each man of the camping party answered inquiries promptly, and one of the group returned to Chelan to plead guilty for them all and to pay the fines.

Every such successful outcome to forest rangers' detective activities helps to promote the cause of forest protection.

TAXES.

All states will do well to follow the example of Florida in abolishing inheritance taxes.

Rich persons are now making extensive studies of state taxes and establishing legal residences accordingly.

This means that states with large inheritance will not be collecting much, for their best "prospects" will have established legal residences where taxes are little or nothing.

And these states will lose the prosperity that wealthy residents induce by their large spendings and gifts.

Inheritance taxation should be collected only by the federal government.

SPANKING.

Are the passing of the old-fashioned hickory stick and modern criminal "waves" related?

So-called old-fashioned folk think so, and take issue with modern professors of psychology and sociology.

Yet there is one modern professor who professes the beliefs of our fathers. To quote Dr. Rudolph M. Binder, of the sociology department of the New York University:

"Spank 'em in moderation. Spanking is a nature physical cure for the tense nervous cause and reaction of misbehavior."

Which licenses dad to say:
"Accompany me to the woodshed, Ernest, and we will review our lesson in sociology."

A NEW ANGLE.

There are now 1900 men employed as federal prohibition enforcers, with the addition of 200 men this week.

That's about one dry agent to 600,000 inhabitants of the United States.

That throws considerable light on President Coolidge's declaration that curtailment of the little bootlegger was the work of local authorities.

A new apparatus has been exhibited at Hollywood for showing moving pictures standing out "solid" instead of flat shadows on the screen. Indeed, it is experimentally possible to show the pictures in their correct colors, and talking as well as moving. For the present, it costs too much; but this means that ultimately it can be made cheap and practical.

The real question is not whether it will be worth doing. One of the chief handicaps of the screen now is its easy realism. Because absolutely anything, possible or impossible, can be shown, the temptation is to show it, instead of to indicate it by artistic appeal to the imagination. Photography is easier than art. Now, if we add to that realism, until we have, to all intents and purposes, the actual scene before us, what will be left to the imagination?

They are at least thorough about it in Germany. When it came to getting rid of Fritz Haarman, who had murdered 26 people, they simply cut his head off. It is a gruesome thing, but it does have some advantages—among which is that there are very few murderers in Germany to deceive, take.

SCIENCE HAS BECOME ARBITER OF MIRACLES

Scientists are investigating a dispatch from Rome says, the case of a young woman who cries out that her hands and feet are being pierced with the nails of the Crucifixion.

What did they see by the goblin riding away for dear life on the black Beanstalk Cat

As Nancy and Nick hid in the dish of fruit on the king's table in Beanstalk Land, and Mister Whizz the fairyman, hid in a tulip in the center of the same table, their sharp eyes were busy.

They saw Snitcher Snatch, the little goblin hiding in the folds of gold lace in the queen's collar, he was take out the snuff box he had stolen, and blow snuff up the queen's nose.

And when the queen sneezed and the soup flew all over everything and there was such a general fuss about it getting into the king's eyes, they decided it was a good time to get away.

They had another reason for wishing to get out of that. When the queen sneezed, the little goblin flew over the butler's head, straight out of the window, snuff box and all.

"Quick, or he'll get away!" cried Mister Whizz as they climbed down the table cloth and rushed for the door.

What did they see but the goblin riding away for dear life on the black Beanstalk Cat, which was a special pet at the castle, and always stayed around at meal times.

As luck would have it, the royal Beanstalk Dog came along just then. "Sit him!" cried Mister Whizz as the dog and the twins climbed up on his back—to his great astonishment.

Whether he was a good dog and used to obeying orders, or whether it was because he was so astonished at three little creatures climbing up on his back, I don't know. But he started after the Beanstalk Cat like a streak of lightning.

"Mew! Mew!" shrieked the Bean-stalk Cat making for a high fence. "Warf, warf! Bow, wow, wow!" barked the dog standing up on his hind legs so that Mister Whizz and the twins had all they could do to hold on.

The cat reached the top of the fence and ran along to a place of safety.

"Good-bye!" shouted the goblin, for he knew very well who was after him. "Good-bye! I still have the snuff box and I'm going to have some more fun with it before I get through."

With that he jumped down on the other side of the fence and was gone. "Quick!" cried Mister Whizz. "We'll have to get the aeroplane and follow him."

"I'll watch and tell you," said the Beanstalk bird sitting up in a Beanstalk tree. "I can see him running. He's running to the place where the magic Beanstalk touches Beanstalk Land."

"He can't get down," shouted Nick. "The Beanstalk fell over. We had to come up in an aeroplane."

"If one of the magic beans touched the ground, another beanstalk would grow at once to take its place," said the bird. "Yes, I can see. He's climbing down now."

"Quick!" said Mister Whizz. "Where's my aeroplane? Oh, there it is."

Soon they were inside and in a few minutes Beanstalk Land was far behind them.

Nick took a spyglass and looked for the goblin.

But at least, France would be on an equality with Germany, in starting the era of peace with a clean slate. The world may have to learn that not only can no one win a modern war, but no one can pay for it.

WHY USE WORD "ILLEGITIMATE"

New York has passed a bill eliminating the words "illegitimate children" from the statute books, and substituting "children born out of wedlock."

Why eliminate the word "illegitimate." The right word to leave out is "children." There is no such thing as an illegitimate child.

But there are such things as illegitimate parents, and the word is too harsh to apply to them. Neither the law nor the stigma should be on the only innocent parties.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN
PRESCOTT TO MRS. MARY
ALDEN PRESCOTT

Dear Mother: I have not heard from you directly for a long time, consequently I am thinking that no news is good news and you are well and happy.

Atlantic City at this time of year is most delightful, especially if one is nicely situated in a first-class hotel. I anticipate you are enjoying your stay, as I have just received the bill of $800 from the manage- ment for the last month's board and room rent for yourself and nurse. Added to this, Miss Ander- son has sent me bills for $500 more.

Don't think that I am counting the cost because when I began on my very large salary I determined in my own mind that I would make you as happy as possible and not worry much about the expense. However, I will have to ask you to keep your expenditures within $15,000 a year. That being almost a third of my salary, I think is a liberal division for you.

Of course, I expect that your ex- penses will not be as much after you leave Atlantic City, which I presume will be shortly, as Miss Anderson tells me that your health is fully recovered.

It is a good thing, mother, that I am getting that wonderful salary, for I find that all my expenses have doubled again and again, and my pride will not allow me to take any of Leslie's income for the actual support of my wife and children. Of course, I know that she is spend- ing a great deal of her money on the rehabilitation of her old home, and that is her privilege if she wishes to do so.

By the way, a friend of mine has been in Atlantic City for the last few weeks and he tells me that he has seen you constantly going about with a very good-looking man, and you seem much interested in each other.

I presume that no son ever ex- pects his mother to be interested in any man. To him she is something entirely different from any other woman. To him she should be con- tent with her little household affairs for, of course, to him the fact that she might have a friendship with a person of the opposite sex, always must seem ridiculous.

I have no inclination to pry into your affairs, my dear mother, but perhaps it would be as well for you to tell any admirer that you may have that the income which makes it possible for you to live in such magnificence at the smartest hotel in Atlantic City would cease if you should marry.

Certainly I have no objections to your being happy and comfortable in your own way, but I must posi- tively decline to take care of any strange man who might be marrying you under the misapprehension that you were a wealthy woman.

Perhaps the best thing for you to do would be to tell Mr. What's-His- Name that you have a beautiful old house in a lovely old New England town and an income of $200 a month. That would be a test, wouldn't it? (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

VIRILE SERMON IS DELIVERED BY DR. HUGHES IN DIXON

Bishop Made Appeal for Brotherhood of All God's Children

For an hour and a half Tuesday evening Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes of the Chicago Area of the Methodist Episcopal church swept a big audience at the M. E. church in this city, met in district convention, from laughter to tears, and made one of the greatest pleas for the brotherhood of God's children.

Fresh and virile, his message scintillated with the unique humor that has made him a "speaker in a million." Never was the bishop positively more funny. On the other hand, the heart reaching plea for the salvation of the world went deep into every heart. Hundreds of people were gathered from the district. This single address would have made worth while a trip across the state.

Three Divisions
The heart of the address presented three divisions. First, divine sociability; second, sanctification of human relations, and third, the deeper interpretation of service. Under the first division the bishop set forth once and for all his utter contempt of every agency and force of American life contributing to racial intolerance and hatred. In uniqueness and with invincible arrays of scripture Bishop Hughes placed every man a son of God, with whom there is no pet or favorite. He pointed out the folly of the Anglo Saxon pride and the so-called Nordic superiority and the white superiority complex. He said our fathers were savages but a few hundred years ago. It is not our Anglo Saxon blood but the blood of Jesus Christ that has given us our superior opportunities. The bishop told the most humorous and illuminating racial stories to enforce his plea of brotherhood. Without Christ he would give little for the future of our land.

With compelling evidence he showed the certainty of reverting to paganism in a very few years without the gospel and the church. Here again, said the speaker, human relations may be sanctified by love of Christ, without which, quoting Carlyle, "we would rear a race of swine." The love mood must be scattered to all men. Hate will bring only death. Uniquely Presented.

To the amusement of the great assembly Bishop Hughes discussed much of the third division of his subject in monologue and dialogue style. With his fine mimicry he enacted the attitude of men and women who talk so glibly about service and do little or nothing for Jesus Christ. No little merriment was caused and no message went deeper at the same time when the speaker portrayed "the man who repeatedly says, 'money, money, money. That is all I hear.'"

Bishop Hughes told of the high privilege of having some part in winning the world to Christ. In an amusing way he told the ministers that if they ever apologized for extending the opportunity for an offering for the Kingdom of Christ he would excommunicate them. In my last pastorate, I took twenty three such special offerings the last year. A wonderful plea was made for the world service of the year.

New York—Gotham's chief pastime, outdoor and indoor, is eating. Everybody eats here. Of course, there is nothing distinctive or exclusive about that, but you should see the way they eat and what they eat. There are more people fat at 30 here than you'll find anywhere outside a sultan's harem.

In New York there are 15,000 restaurants, 5000 bakeries, 7000 fruit and vegetable stores, 12,000 retail butchers, 19,000 groceries and 4500 delicatessens. The number is increasing constantly. Few failures occur in the business of feeding the mass.

Anyone who can think of a new wrinkle in the method of serving eaters can make a quick and ready fortune here. Russian tea rooms, Chinese chop suey places, "atmospheric" cellars and garrets, Armenian restaurants, coffee houses, Turkish coffee shops, cafeterias, sandwich counters, "dine-and-dance" palaces and all manner of ways in feeding and watering human stock have been established here and many fortunes have been made.

Some day I expect to see an inventive genius arrange a contraption that will shoot coffee and sandwiches from the top of a skyscraper directly to the desks of those working in the building. That's one idea. Maybe you have a better one.

The most unusual eating place in town, I believe, is a Japanese kitchen on Fifty-Eighth street near Columbus Circle. When you sit down you are served with a bowl of soup and a bill of fare. You select what you want from the bill of fare. Then the waiter brings you a gas plate, lights it and then serves all the ingredients of your dish—raw. You are given a typewritten recipe for the dish. It tells you just how long to cook each ingredient, how to season it, etc. While you eat your soup your dinner cooks before you. The dishes served are much like Chinese dishes. You are furnished with chop sticks and if you insist on knife or fork it is begrudgingly given. This place is very unostentatious, the word "Mykoyo" on a light globe inside the foyer being the only thing that heralds it to those who pass. It is patronized largely by orientals.

In the past three months more than a dozen "coffee pots" have opened in eight blocks of Eighth avenue. They are dumpy little holes, with six or eight stools at a counter. They serve the cheapest of foods most of which looks quite unsavory. But they sell the best coffee on the market at five cents a cup and because of that they flourish.

A Grouch Not Wanted

There is nothing so harmful to success as being a grouch. "Stomach, liver and intestinal trouble make one grouchy. May's Wonderful Remedy will help overcome these and usually gives complete results.

Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation that causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. At all drug-gists.—Adv.

SPRING IS HERE

Mother Earth is blossoming out in bright, new, clean colors. Does this mean anything to you? Isn't it Nature's gentle hint that all things need renewing and brightening up once a year?

Why not brighten up your home with a new coat of paint?

A house that is painted each spring is still new at the end of ten, or even twenty years. But one which is never painted until the old paint wears off becomes a ruin in that length of time.

A few dollars spent for paint each spring adds many years to the life of your home.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

"That's our 1925 model," said the natty young salesman. "The very best buy on the market."

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, struggling young lawyer. Her idea of marriage is good times, good clothes . . . and no work or children!

Dick borrows his mother's maid, MAGGIE, to teach Gloria to cook. But she refuses to learn.

Dick has an attack of flu. While he is working at home with MISS BRIGGS, his secretary, Gloria plans a housewarming. She asks STANLEY WAYBURN, an actor with whom she was once in love, to be one of the guests. He accepts.

When Dick meets Wayburn he is instantly jealous, although the actor devotes himself to MRS. GAIL. Glory drinks too much, and faints away while dancing with DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, whose wife, MAY, is in love with JIM CAREWE. The party breaks up when LOLA ROUGH scolds BILL, her husband, for getting Maggie, disgusted, quits her job and returns to MOTHER GREGORY.

Then Gloria hires RANGHILD SWANSON, although Dick tells her they can't afford a maid. And she buys $400 worth of clothes. She is trying them on when Dick comes home.

Now GO ON WITH THE STORY

"WELL, what have you been doing, buying out the town?" he asked.

Glory smiled. "Hardly that, dear."

"Just a dress or two."

She came toward him swaying like a model in a style-show. Her lips were pursed up for a kiss.

"Kiss me sticky mouth," she said playfully.

Dick kissed her with the utmost gravity.

"Where did you get all these clothes?" he asked.

"From my generous husband. . . I charged them to you," Glory answered. "Now don't be cross, please. I really needed a few things."

Dick frowned.

"But you just bought a new dress last week for your party," he said.

"Oh, that thing!" Glory answered, her lips curling. "My old dress-maker made it. . . It had no style."

"I thought it was beautiful," Dick said helplessly.

Downstairs Ranghild was striking the Chinese dinner gong.

"You know, Dick," Glory said after dinner as they sat before the wood fire in the living-room, "a woman needs more clothes than a man does."

Dick lowered his newspaper and looked at her.

"How much did you spend today?" he asked.

"Only a little bit over four hundred dollars," Glory said.

"But wait until you see all the lovely bargains I picked up," she cried before he had time to answer. She ran upstairs and dressed her hair in the new black velvet dress.

Then she put on the cream-colored hat, and dabbed mimosas perfume behind her ears and under her chin.

"Don't I look like a million dollars?" she asked excitedly when she came down, again.

"You sure do," Dick admitted. "But I want to show you something . . ."

HE took a black leather book from his inside coat pocket.

"Oh, don't show me figures, please," Glory protested. "I don't understand them, and they make my head feel all fuzzy inside . . ."

"These won't," Dick said. "Look here, I haven't four hundred dollars in my checking account! And I'm paying for some telephone company stock that I'm going to give you for your birthday."

"Oh, don't! I don't want it. Give me an automobile, instead!" Gloria cried, clasping her hands. "I've just got to have an automobile! May and Myra and all the girls have one."

"May and Myra have rich husbands," Dick said.

Do it today. Tomorrow might be too late. Insure that automobile. Hal will take care of it for you. He is on the job at the Dixon Loan and Building Ass'n. from 8 to 6. Drop in anytime.

Japan now has three Rotary clubs.

Seymour telephoned Glory.

"Hello, Lazy-bones!" she said in answer to Glory's sleepy "Hello."

"I've been up for two hours," May went on proudly. "Bathed Mah Jongg already."

"Did you call me up to tell me you'd given your dog a bath?"

Glory laughed. "I have something better to tell than that myself . . . I've got a lot of new clothes to show you. Bought 'em yesterday."

"Well, don't yourself up in some of them and we'll go downtown and jazz around a bit," May said. "I'm blue as indigo . . . and I don't know why. Found a gray hair in my brush, for one thing, this morning! Think of it . . . gray hair at twenty-five! . . . What do you suppose I'll look like at forty?"

"Just the way you do now," Glory comforted her. "Brunets don't fade, May. And there's a lot of good hair dye on the market when you really need it. . . What time will you call for me?"

"Oh, about twelve," May said, and rang off.

Glory sat about the serious business of dressing.

She had just finished by the time May knocked the horn of her car outside the house at noon.

"If anyone telephones for me when I'm gone, please say I'm having lunch at the College Inn with Mrs. Seymour," Glory told Ranghild, who was cleaning silver in the pantry. She had a vague idea that Stan might take it into his head to phone her.

"WELL, will you kindly take a look at the 15th Avenue kid?" May exclaimed as Glory opened the door of the automobile and stepped in. "That's the best-looking hat I ever saw in my life!"

"I'm glad you appreciate it. . . Dick all but killed me for buying it," Glory sighed. "My goodness, to hear him talk you'd think I'd committed a murder instead of buying myself a few clothes!"

"That's the way with all the men," Ranghild said. "They're all out of their minds about a flapper's dress, and a houseful of furniture to keep, and a houseful of furniture to keep, and a houseful of furniture to keep."

"But a man's marriage just doubles his interest in life. He still has his business, and a home and wife on the side! Whereas a girl gives up everything when she marries."

Glory thought this over. Surely May hadn't given up everything when she married Dr. John. She certainly had not given up Jim Carewe, for instance. They still went around together as they had before May's marriage.

"How?" Glory asked eagerly.

Dr. John was a mystery to Glory. Didn't he care if his attractive young wife and Jim Carewe lunched together two or three times a week while he, himself, was making his calls? . . . Or did he care so much for May that he let her do as she pleased, so long as she was content to be his wife? . . . Glory couldn't figure it out.

May parked her car outside an automobile salesroom.

After the two girls had shopped and lunched they decided to go back to Gloria's house to look at her new clothes.

Glory was vaguely unhappy.

Somewhere or other she had had a wild hope that she would see Stanley Wayburn in the restaurant where she and May had lunched. When she had dressed that morning, she had been dressing, half-unconsciously, for Stan's eyes.

And she had not seen him.

"Look at that blue car there in the window, Glory," May indicated a glossy little roadster in the window of the show-room across the sidewalk.

Glory looked. The little car was a beauty.

Its dark blue sides shone like satin. Its trimmings were of polished brass.

"Just for the fun of it, let's go in and price it," Glory said impulsively. They went in.

"That's our new 1925 model," said the natty young salesman, opening the door of the car so that Glory could get into it. "The very best buy on the market . . . $1800 exactly!"

Glory sat down behind the wheel. The soft spring seats were covered with blue leather. And on the dash was a tiny clock set in dark blue enamel.

THAT night she asked Dick to buy it for her.

"I don't want any old telephone company stock, Ricky," she said, pleadingly. "And I'm just crazy for this little bus. It's the cutest thing in the world . . . and it would keep your Glory so snug and warm these wintry days. . . I could even go to market in it every morning, and bring my vegetables and meats home in it."

That touch about the markets was an inspiration, she knew. For Dick loved the idea of her being a housewife . . . picking out her own strawberries and ramp-roasts in the markets, and bringing them home.

"I want that telephone stock, for you . . . but there is one way I can buy you the automobile," he said finally.

"How?" Glory asked eagerly.

ROCHELLE SCHOOLS TO BE REPRESENTED IN COMING CONTESTS

Pupils Entered in Big Events at Freeport
and Chicago

Rochelle—The local high school will be represented in the State Inter-scholastic contest to be held at Freeport on Saturday, April 25.

William Chadwick will represent the school in Extensive Speaking. In oratory, the prize lies between Gerald Daum, Frank Wardecker and Thomas Keegan. In Platform Reading the school will probably be represented by Helen Stegmeier, with perhaps several other students running close for the coveted honor.

Several students in the Commercial Department will be selected some time this week to represent the school in both the Stenography and Typewriting contests to be held on the same day at Freeport.

The Rochelle schools will be represented in the National Music Appreciation contest to be held in Orchestra Hall, Chicago on April 25th.

Edward Wormley, Mary Delaney, Louise Park, Hazel Harris, Dorothy McEachern, Eugene Bain and Helen Ferguson will represent the high school.

For the grade schools the representatives are: Katherine McEachern, Ruth Conrad, Maxine Magnus, Bernice Shepard, Herbert Bain, Darrel Payne, and Fred Blackburn.

F. D. Chadwick, regional Boy Scout executive for Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin spoke Monday at the regular meeting of the DeKalb Kiwanis club. During his short address he asked the support of the Kiwanis club and other business men of the city in organizing a Boy Scout unit in DeKalb county. His address was of much interest and the club will no doubt give his work its active support.

Monday evening, Mr. Chadwick addressed the members of the Dixon Council No. 690, Knights of Columbus on the Boys' Work program of the order at the regular meeting of the Dixon Council at Moose hall.

Mrs. Frances E. Fie, 89 years old, widow of Sidney Fie and widely known temperance worker, died Sunday at midnight at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Horace Beecham, Ladd, Ill., after a brief illness from pneumonia. Besides the daughter mentioned, she is survived by a son, Sidney Fie, of Dillon, Mont. The deceased was the mother of the late Elmer C. Fie of Rochelle and the grandmother of Miss Margaret Fie. Completion of the funeral arrangements wait advice from the son in the west.

Mr. and Mrs. Beecham expect to move to St. Paul, Minn., in the near future where Mr. Beecham was transferred some time ago by the C. M. & St. P. Ry.

Chief of police Ambrose D. Hodges is confined to his home on account of illness.

William Webber was in Dixon Monday.

"The Dixon Community—A good place to live—Make it a Better Place!"

INVITING THE SINCERE SUPPORT OF EVERYBODY IN FURTHERING A DEFINITE PLAN TO BETTER THE SOCIAL, CIVIC AND ECONOMIC CON- DITIONS OF ALL!

We are living in an age of Progress. Everything that is done today must of necessity, be a step forward. This applies not only to individuals but to cities and countries and nations. We know that Dixon and the territory immediately surrounding it, is a good place to live, else none of us would be living here. But we cannot stand idly by and watch Progress march past our doors without becoming a part of the parade. We must do our part or lose our identity.

HERE IS WHAT DIXON IS GOING TO DO!

In the first place, in order to progress we must know our shortcomings as well as our good points. The Control Committee for this community has arranged with the Edwin G. Booz Surveys of Chicago to come here and to make a survey of our community. They will become a part of our community; they will work with us and for us to find out exactly what is needed to better our city and community in a social way; in a civic way; in an economic way.

YOUR CO-OPERATION SPELLS

Your sincere support is more than essential. Without it, nothing can be done. The plan to better living and working conditions in Dixon and the community is not for just a few people but for each and every one of us. Everything that will be done will be for "the greatest good of the greatest number." There is nothing selfish about this movement. It is necessary in order to make our community a better place to live in.

"The Dixon Community—A good place to live—Make it a Better Place!"

Certain definite things are needed in this Community from Social, Civic and Economic points of view. Certain things must be done which will make our Community a better place in which to live and enjoy living. None of us want to go backward. We want to become a part of the forward movement which is making the United States the most wonderful, the most progressive country. A Plan has been adopted by men and women of this Community for all of us.

If we are in need of more schools, more places of amusement, better transportation, better shopping facilities, more parks, more diversified industries, it will be found out through this survey of our community. Then, after we know what is needed to make this community a better place in which to live, it is up to every citizen in the community to join hands in a concerted effort to bring into being, anything and everything to better the conditions of all.

SUCCESS OR FAILURE!

Here is your part. When the interviewer, representing the Edwin G. Booz Surveys calls to see you, give him any information he may ask. There will be nothing of a personal nature required. Everything he may ask will be for the community good and betterment. Co-operate with the people making the survey. It is for the ultimate good of you, your family and every man, woman and child in the Dixon community.

Use Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline for Power

Red Crown Gasoline demonstrates its worth preëminently when only a steady, tugging pull will bring your car through—when a lapse of power, no matter how brief, means you must send for a tow.

But, there are no lapses of power in Red Crown for it has a perfect, unbroken chain of boiling point fractions. From the initial fraction to the heavy ends of the chain, Red Crown imparts a steady steam-engine-like pressure on the piston, producing a steady rhythmic flow of sustained pulling power—tremendous power.

Fill your tank with Red Crown and you are ready for any stretch that an automobile can go through or over.
